"Leaders Standard Work was one of the best, if not THE best workshop I have ever attended. Thank you for your insight and energy. I'm inspired to push my team to the next level!"

Greg Wesling, Plant Manager
Proto Labs Inc.

People that transform traditional manufacturing processes to a lean production system require a new kind of leader. They need a leader that is willing to consistently provide the coaching and resources needed to solve problems and prevent cultural barriers from popping up. In this experiential, online workshop you will learn to become that leader.

Tools and Topics Learned Include:

- Define the Sr. Lean Practitioner Model
- Develop leaders standard work for all levels of the organization
- Ensure the standard is followed daily and improved regularly
- What it should cover
- Pros and cons of different formats

Who Should Attend: Team Leads, Supervisors, and Managers. Participants should currently have responsibility for a team.
